Closing Poem: “Be the Light” ~Athán Oparaji

If everyone waits for light to shine
If everyone waits for the sun to shine
As it rises from the East to set in the West
Who will now light the world?
Who will lead the light for the rest to see through?
Who will become the rays in dark clouds?
Who will light the matches in between the
Palms of our gifted hands?

So I don't wait for things to happen
I happen to things
I just burn to light the world.
